

Making Sense: Why God Matters for Head and Heart

We live in a time when belief in God is often seen as irrelevant. In this talk, John Dickson will explain why despite all the criticisms against Christianity, and the many failures of the church, Christianity can still make surprising sense of our world —of science, history, morality, and even mental health.

ABOUT JOHN DICKSON

John's story is eclectic. Starting out as a professional singer-songwriter, he now works as an author, speaker, historian, and media presenter.

He was the Founding Director of the Centre for Public Christianity (2007-17). He has published 15 books, and 3 television documentaries, the most recent of which is For the Love of God: How the Church is Better and Worse Than you Ever Imagined. He teaches a course on the Historical Jesus at the University of Sydney, Australia, and researches the origins of Christianity in the Roman empire.

In all that he does, he strives to be a public advocate for the Christian faith in doubting times.
